

THE SDGXCHANGE

IS A HANDS-ON STRATEGY TOOL
TO CREATE OUTSIDE-IN BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES
THROUGH POSITIVE CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS (SDGS).

According to the Better Business Better World Report released by the Business and Sustainable Development Commission pursuing the Sustainable Development Goals could create trillions in new market opportunities. With the SDGXCHANGE organizations of all sizes have a strategy-tool at hand to tap into this potential.

The strategy tool applies relevant tools and methodologies accelerating the transition to true business sustainability. It enables companies to reflect and focus on long-term solutions creating a net-positive impact for all.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO BECOME FUTURE READY

Sustainability applied correctly opens up a business case anticipating changes in the market and identifying new opportunities faster. The strategy tool helps:

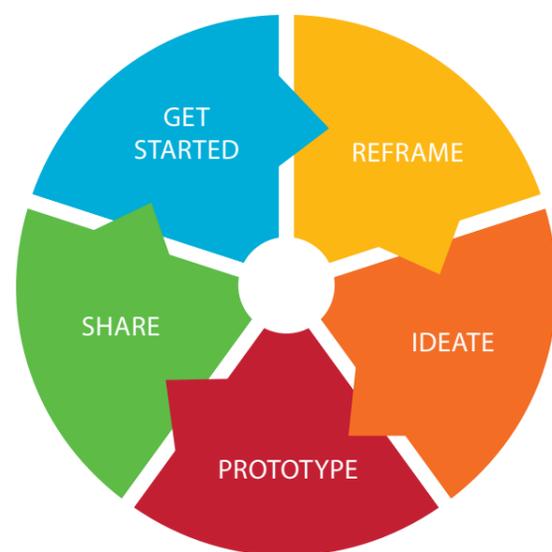

- Translating the SDGs into local business relevance and prioritizing relevant sustainability issues with the Gap Frame (www.gapframe.org),
- Creative reflection and prioritization based on true business sustainability
- Co-innovation of new strategic business opportunities beyond current business activities for long-term strategic opportunities

IS IT FOR YOU?

- Companies of all sizes and sectors
- Foundations as well as other organizations
- Consulting firms and independent consultants wishing to add a tool to their services
- Business schools, universities and training institutions

THE GRIPS APPROACH

The SDGXCHANGE provides organizations with a GRIPS process, guidance and support on how to change from an inside-out to an outside-in perspective, and how to embrace true business sustainability into the core of their strategies.

WHAT MAKES THE SDGXCHANGE UNIQUE?

The SDGXCHANGE is a unique hands-on process tool building on the Sustainable Development Goals and the True Business Sustainability typology, making use of the data from the GAPFRAME.org and relevant organizational and behavioural change, innovation and transformation approaches to generate new businesses addressing the challenges of our times.

The GRIPS approach differentiates itself from other tools in the SDG space by addressing not only the knowledge dimension like most other methods, but by also offering hands-on support and solutions in the activities dimensions. While there are a few emerging tools that build on knowledge and data sources and attempt to provide activity tools, the GRIPS approach is the only existing SDG-related methodology that also addresses and embraces the behavioural change dimension. Integrating this third dimension is critical to ensure a true transformation of any organization that seeks to embrace and embed the SDGs into the core of its activities and the GRIPS methodology is uniquely able to support such a journey.
